Sam Day Shot, Rube McKean Is Captured, in Holdup at Idabel

Fugitive Arkansas Convicts Get $5,000 in Bank Robbery But Run Into Officers—Loot Is Recovered

TEXARKANA.—(AP)—A man Police Chief Sam Sellers identified as Sam Day, escaped Arkansas convict, was shot, and Rube McKean, another Arkansas fugitive, was captured in a holdup of the Idabel National bank at Idabel, Okla., Tuesday afternoon, it was learned in Texarkana.

Day is in a critical condition. Day and McKean escaped from Tucker prison farm April 27. The only trace of the pair was reported at Pine Bluff several days later when a rifle identified as state property was found on the bank of the Arkansas river.

At Idabel Tuesday afternoon the two gunmen emerged from the bank after obtaining $5,000 in loot, only to run into officers.

The man identified as Day was shot while the other surrendered. The officers recovered the money.

Compromise Ends Three Weeks' Tie-Up of Auto Production

VOTE IS DECISIVE

But Strikers' Chairman Calls Compromise a "Dirty Deal"

CLEVELAND, Ohio.—(AP)—Union employees of the Fisher body company's plant here cast a unanimous vote Tuesday to terminate the strike and return to work.

TOLEDO, Ohio.—(AP)—The three weeks' strike at the Chevrolet auto plant here ended Tuesday and plant officials moved quickly to return to full-speed production.

Union workers who voted two to one to end the strike were divided in the opinions of the settlement.

James Roland, chairman of the strike committee, described the result as a "dirty deal."

The agreement accepted by the workers provided for an increase of 4 cents per hour and other time and remuneration benefits.

Vote Ends Strike

TOLEDO, Ohio.—(AP)—Union workers of the Toledo Chevrolet plant voted 732 to 385, Monday night to end their strike.

By accepting a proposal worked out by A. F. of L. leaders, federal labor mediators and company officials, the workers ended a strike which has affected 30,000 others in the automobile industry.

The action came a few hours after Francis J. Dillon, A. F. of L. organizer for the automobile industry, had threatened to suspend the local of the United Automobile Workers Federal Union, which had called the strike April 23.

Dillon's threat was made after the union meeting had adopted a motion which would have excluded him as a speaker. He left the meeting but returned after the motion was rescinded.

Hope Bandboys Get 5 Places at Spa

Local Organization Rated Fourth Out of 27 Competing Bands

The Hope Boys band took five places in the state high school band contest Friday and Saturday at Hot Springs.

Twenty-seven bands from various parts of the state competed for individual and group honors. In the jury division Hope had three winners, as follows:

Dub Oliver, third in snare drum contest.

Bryant Bundy, second in base drum contest.

Wallace Van Sickle, second in trumpet.

Among the 27 bands that took part in the marching contest Friday night at Rix stadium, Hope was judged fourth.

The local organization also came out fourth in the playing contest. Twenty-five members made the trip to Hot Springs, accompanied by five chaperons.

Little Miss Joy Ramsey, 13-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Ramsey, acted as drum major for the Hope band. Miss Ramsey was awarded fifth place among class D drum majors.

Farmers Rally to Triple-A Program

Are First Washington Delegation to Give Thanks to F. D. R.

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Three thousand farmers from the South and West jammed Constitution hall Tuesday, shouting praise for the AAA, and looked forward to hearing an address during the afternoon by President Roosevelt.

The convention chairman, Robertson "This is the first time in history of Alabama, asserted, that a group has visited this city merely for the sake of thanking a great president and administration for helpfulness."

From 25 States

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Farmers from more than 25 states began assembling in Washington Monday night to show Congress and business critics that agriculture wants the farm adjustment act continued.

C. H. Day, Plainview, Texas, unofficial leader of the pilgrimage, estimated that more than 500 farmers were in the capital. The railroads reported seven special trains, each carrying approximately 350 farmers, scheduled to arrive here between 7 and 9 Tuesday morning.

Delegates from North Carolina said 1,500 farmers from that state would be here for Tuesday's mass meeting.

Fifty arrived Monday from South Dakota. One was here from Montana and said 12 others will join him.

Day, completing arrangements for the program, said there should be from 3,000 to 4,000 farmers at Constitution hall when the program opens at 9:30 a. m. Tuesday.

March "Spontaneous"

San Lassen, corn-hog farmer from Brookings county, S. D., described the march as a spontaneous, unorganized response of the farmers to criticism of the AAA and the processing tax.

"Nobody asked us if we could come to Washington," Lassen said. "We didn't like this criticism of the AAA. Business and industry have been receiving benefits for years. Under the AAA, the farmers have been getting a break. We are going to see that we keep on getting this break."

Senate Leader 3d Ranking Official

Norrel Takes Precedence Over House Speaker, Says Carl Bailey

LITTLE ROCK.—(AP)—The recurrent controversy over who should serve as acting governor in the absence of both the governor and the lieutenant governor was settled temporarily last night when Attorney General Carl E. Bailey ruled Monday that Amendment 6, creating the office of lieutenant governor, did not repeal the original provision of the constitution requiring the senate to elect a president pro tem in such a case.

The opinion, written by Assistant Attorney General Thomas Fitzhugh, was requested by Senator W. F. Norrell of Monticello, president pro tem.

He said he had been informed that Governor Patrick and Lieutenant Governor Carroll might be out of the state at the same time and that he desired to know whether he or Speak-

Grand Jury List to Be Disclosed at 9 Wednesday

Sheriff Bearden Will Reveal Jurors' Names as They Convene

TO SUBMIT 5 CASES

Arson Investigation Will Get Under Way at Washington Courthouse

Sheriff Jim Bearden announced Tuesday that selection of the special grand jury to look into written charges made by Charles Crenshaw against an alleged arson ring in Hope had been completed.

The sheriff withheld the grand jury list, deeming it unwise to make the list public before the jury is impaneled at 9 a. m. Wednesday.

At that time, the sheriff said, "I will announce the list for publication."

At least five cases, four against Hope persons and the other against a Hot Springs resident, will be submitted for investigation, Sheriff Bearden said.

No announcement was made as to the number of persons who had been subpoenaed.

Independence Wins in Philippine Vote

Early Report Shows 5,403 for, 106 Against, in City of Manila

MANILA, P. I.—(AP)—A tremendous majority for the proposed Philippine constitution under which the Philippines would be weaned from American supervision was shown in early returns Tuesday night (Oriental time) in the nation-wide plebiscite.

Twenty-nine Manila precincts voted 5,403 for ratification of the commonwealth charter to 106 against.

The vote was cast without any show of the rumored violence by Sakdalista extremists.

Chain Letter May Invoke State Law

Batesville Prosecutor to Attack Them as a Lottery Project

LITTLE ROCK.—(AP)—Arkansas statutes are being studied by enforcement officials to determine whether chain letter enthusiasts are subject to prosecution, and one deputy prosecuting attorney, Virgil Butler of Batesville, announced Monday that he would take action against senders of the letters.

He telephoned Attorney General Carl E. Bailey relative to the matter, and the latter suggested that a written request for an opinion be submitted to his office, if there were any question in Mr. Butler's mind regarding his authority to order arrests.

At Batesville, Mr. Butler said he was convinced chain letter purveyors are guilty of violating laws against lotteries.

In Little Rock, where in at least one downtown building an office has been established to carry on a chain letter business, Prosecuting Attorney Fred A. Donham said he would review lottery statutes Tuesday.

Otha Ozment of Fort Smith is in charge of the downtown office, opened Saturday, which is starting chains and serving as a clearing house for the letters. Under his system, the person whose name appears last on the letter sells two of them to acquaintances, who bring them to Ozment's office and pay $1 each to be sent to the person whose name heads the list. They also pay 45 cents each to have additional letters attested by a notary public.

Four stenographers in the office spent Monday industriously typing chain letters, three for each purchaser, adding his or her name at the bottom. To these the official seal of a notary is affixed, guaranteeing their genuineness. One letter is placed on file in the office and the remaining two sold to new purchasers, who repeat the process. One member of the office force said that over 1,000 persons had letters notarized Saturday, the first day of the office's operation.

Fish cannot close their eyes, and therefore they are unable to sleep in the ordinary sense of that term as applied to mankind. They have periods of less activity during the day, and it is then that they rest.

Lawrence of Arabia Hurt on Motorcycle

WOOL, Dorsetshire, Eng.—(AP)—Col. Thomas E. Lawrence, the famous Lawrence who emerged unscathed from wild adventures in the Arabian desert, suffered injuries Monday when his motorcycle collided with a bicycle ridden by a child. He was not believed to have been seriously hurt. In conformity with military rules, however, officials declined to give any information concerning his condition.

The child escaped without serious injuries, but an ambulance rushed Lawrence to the hospital where he was listed under his adopted name of T. E. Shaw.

An expert at fish catching, the heron once was believed to attract the fish with its legs, and old angling books advised the use of marrow from the thighbone of a heron as bait.

Senate by 62-20 Refuses to Take Up Long Proposal

Long Presents Affidavit of Contractors' Discharged Girl Employee

BONUS ISSUE NEAR

Patman Bill Scheduled to Reach White House Tuesday Night

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—The senate refused Tuesday to investigate Postmaster General Farley as Senator Huey P. Long had proposed.

The vote against investigation was 62 to 20.

The Long resolution was defeated after the Louisiana introduced a new affidavit in his campaign against Farley, and Senator McKellar asserted that Long "is trying to destroy the character of a man who doesn't agree with him."

The affidavit read by Long was signed by Miss Helen Humphreys, a former employee of James A. Stewart and Co., building contractors, who said Harry D. Watts had forced that concern to give him a contract at $25,000 a year on the claim he could throw business to the firm through Farley.

Accuser Discharged

In a statement issued in New York, M. E. Kallet, vice president of the Stewart firm said, he hoped the senate would show the "malicious falsity" of Miss Humphreys' charges, and added, that she had been discharged for "disloyalty" about a month ago.

Miss Humphreys' affidavit listed other charges, based on what she said she heard in telephone conversations between Farley and his secretary, and Watts, charges which Senator Wheeler of Montana said warranted an inquiry because of Farley's long time.

He said, "I have a high regard for his integrity and honesty, but when charges are made by United States senators they are quite different from those made by those outside the senate."

"Maybe Long has no facts and his charges are based on personal spleen. I don't believe Farley is guilty of the things he charges but here is a sworn affidavit."

Demanding Miss Humphreys be called before the postoffice committee, Senator McCauley of Nevada declared the Democratic party would be making a mistake not to inquire into it.

"To my mind," he said, "Farley is innocent, but I don't want him convicted by an affidavit."

Markets

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS.—(AP)—An irregular price trend prevailed at the start of trading Tuesday on the cotton market here, with old crop months 2 to 5 points higher. The more distant positions were unchanged to three points lower.

July sold at the first call at 11.82 and advanced two points while both October and December were unchanged from Monday's final prices and January was one point lower at 11.74.

The Morgenthau speech delivered Monday night did not appear to have had any influence on price movements during the early trading and the market held in a narrow range around the opening levels.

NEW YORK.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened barely steady, two higher to two lower with steeper Liverpool cables partially offset by selling against May notices and liquidation. May 11.82; July 11.87; October 11.68; December 11.74; January 11.78; March 11.82.

The market turned steadier after the initial offerings had been absorbed on trade and Japanese buying of nearby positions. There were notices representing 3,000 bales issued against May contract causing a little early near month liquidation. July advanced from 11.86 to 11.89 and the market generally was ruling net unchanged to five points higher at the end of the first half hour. Liverpool reported a small market with trade calling and Bombay buying.

Wind Begins Carrying Hay Fever Pollens

This is the time of year when the pollens begin to be blown about by the wind and when those who are sensitive to them begin to suffer with the sneezing, coughing, and congestion that are significant of hay fever. Long before we know that the pollens were responsible, there was some indication that hay fever came at certain seasons and that it could be avoided by changing one's residence to an area in which the pollens were not prevalent.

For example, it has been pointed out that Daniel Webster suffered from ragweed hay fever for 20 years and did not have the symptoms in 1839, when he spent the summer in Scotland.

It is known that the Rev. Henry Ward Beecher had hay fever and obtained relief when he went to the Catskill mountains. As long ago as 1875 Judge Gary mentioned the fact that he used to get relief from his hay fever in northern Michigan.

However, as people have traveled about and as intercommunication has grown, certain areas which used to have a fine reputation for being free from hay fever have lost their distinction with the invasion of ragweed coming in the wake of civilization. A study has been made of the distribution of ragweed throughout the United States over a period of a good many years, and a system has been set up for finding out how much ragweed pollen is present in the air at various times.

Only the North Pacific coast states were found to be entirely free. Ragweeds and related hay fever plants do not grow in that region, and the Cascades prevent the pollens from being blown in from the intermountain region.

California and the southwest are not greatly troubled with ragweed, but a good many other pollens that bring about hay fever are to be found in that region. Florida suffers little from ragweed pollen, but Florida and California and the southwest are pretty warm for summer resorts.

In Canada, Winnipeg and supper Saskatchewan are found to be relatively free from pollen. Especially unfavorable pollen conditions are found in Denver, Salt Lake City, and Landers, Wyo., but the conditions in these cities do not obtain for most of the mountain resorts in the same area.

It has been learned by recent investigations that prevailing winds make a great deal of difference, because pollen is carried by them. Rainfall also is of importance, because sufficient amount of rainfall will precipitate the pollens and lessen the symptoms.

When Slaves Told to Give Us Rubber—Here Are Details of Trade That Cost Many Lives

When British planters in the Malay peninsula discovered that rubber could be grown there cheaply, they may have knocked the bottom out of the economic system of the Amazon valley—but they also unwittingly helped to put an end to one of the worst systems of slavery the earth has ever known—that of the rubber workers of South America.

What that slavery was like is revealed in all its dreadful detail in "The Vortex," a novel by Jose E. Rivera.

It is not a pleasant novel, and it is not especially easy reading. But it does give one an understanding of the kind of thing that happens when unadulterated human greed is permitted to operate without any restraint whatever.

The narrative has to do with a young Colombian who flees from Bogota because of an unfortunate love affair, loses himself in the jungles along the headwaters of the Orinoco, and then plunges down into the great rubber country of two decades ago. And while his own adventures are interesting, it is the picture of the rubber industry that makes the book valuable.

Senior Rivera tells how the rubber workers were trapped by promises of easy money, shipped to jungles from which they could not escape, and then enslaved. Torture, murder, starvation, fraud of every variety—these were the implements of their servitude; and the book leaves you thankful that the bottom did at last fall out of the Amazon rubber trade. Published by Putnam, the book sells for 2.50.

YOUR CHILDREN

By Olive Roberts Barton

"Kinder-Garden" Idea Gives Children Chance to Play.

"I don't mind leaving Ridge Center so much," sighed Mrs. Brown, "except for one thing."

"And that is?" I suggested.

"The back yards we fixed up for the children. This town is very nice and people are neighborly enough, but they see to it that their yards are divided by hedges or fences. They might as well put up signs 'Stay Out—This Means You' or 'No Trespassing—Private Property.'"

"So your children have to stay in their own back yard? Is that it?"

"They certainly do. And it isn't any bigger than a bread board at that. With the garage taking up half. Why out in Ridge Center they'd think it was just too queer to mark off back yards that way, like a pan of fudge."

Eight Houses Co-operated

"What was it—a sort of community affair?"

"I guess you'd call it that. There were eight houses in our block. All of us had children. So we fixed the back up every spring just as though it were one continuous park and nobody cared whose children played there."

"Women don't like other people's children running over their flowerbeds. They're a trifle more patient with their own, but others—never."

"We spent our money on swings and sliding boards and sand piles and horizontal bars and little wading-pools instead of flowers."

"One family couldn't afford all the things children like, so each mother provided what she could. They hardly ever thought of going out in the street to play. But here it's different. Children get lonely in their own yards and haunt the sidewalk. All my neighbors go in for flowers and lawns. They don't even keep a corner for a play yard."

Thought More of Children

"You were fortunate in your neighbors."

"They seemed to think more of children than flowers, all over the city."

She repeated her story that first year I knew her to several clubs, at my suggestion, but I never knew anyone to profit by the plan. To me it was so sensible and progressive, too—the whole idea. Ridge Center, very possibly, still carries on and saves its children. Why cannot other places emulate the plan? It might be called "The Kinder-Garden Club" or "The Child-Garden Club." It just needs someone to start it.

KATHARINE STRYKHURST, beautiful, 20, is discontented and restless because her wealthy father, VICTOR STRYKHURST, and her aristocratic stepmother, BERTINE, refuse to let Katharine undertake any sort of work.

Katharine rides daily with MICHAEL HEATHERTON, young westerner who runs a riding club. She assumes herself who is not interested in Michael but feels a pang of jealousy when SALLY MOON, local coquette, enrolls at the club for lessons.

ZOE PARKER, Katharine's friend, returns from Europe where she has been taken to forget a love affair with GUY LARKIN, of whom her parents disapprove. Zoe begs Katharine to help her arrange a meeting with Gibbs. Katharine refuses.

DR. JOHN KAYE, relative of Katharine's stepmother, returns from Europe to start medical practice. Katharine welcomes him as a friend.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER V

NO one in his right mind could have called John Kaye handsome, but there was something awfully pleasant about his lean, ascetic face, about the blue eyes smiling behind the rimless glasses. He had blunt-fingered hands with closely-clipped nails—a surgeon's hands—and his light brown hair was thinning at the crown.

He held her hands now, smiling back at Katharine. "Just off the boat!" he said.

"You came right out! Why, you nice thing!"

She flushed, the thought of Zoe intruding at the very moment. Zoe would have said, "You lamb," and "You darling," and "You precious."

But even with Johnny, who Katharine said to herself, was like the brother she'd never had, she could not be quite so familiar. Never mind—Johnny liked her as she was!

"What's troubling you?" The keen eyes looked her over in such friendly fashion she could not resent it. "You're thinner. But haven't you grown?"

"You've been gone two years, Johnny dear." It slipped out before she noticed it. She ticked off the names on her fingers: "Munich, Vienna, Paris. How many degrees have you now?"

He smiled. "Learned a few things—that's all."

"And what now?"

"Now—well, I'm staying in New York for a while. Old Munster has asked me to come in with him."

"Dr. Hugo Munster? Oh, Johnny, that's marvelous!"

She could be herself with him, as always. John Kaye, who was a distant cousin of Bertine's and had lived in the house during holidays, when he had been attending medical school.

They sat down together.

"Tell me everything, Johnny."

"I want to know about you."

He had a gentle voice, a good doctor's voice, and a good doctor's probing, intelligent look.

SHE shrugged her shoulders. In her rumpled linen coat and jodhpurs, her russet boots stretched out in front of her, she looked oddly childish.

"Oh, nothing much. The same old deadly round!"

"How's the sketching?"

"Never mind," Katharine said. "Next spring when I get my mother's money I'll do as I please."

She frowned. "Daddy didn't like the idea of the life class. Honestly, John, he has prehistoric ideas. Anyhow, I'm not any good."

Her black mood threatened to descend again.

"Nonsense, you're great. Don't be a defeatist. How about college?"

She ruffled her hair. "I had two years of it, you know; but I flunked math. I take French afternoons from Maxmelle Audle down in the village. Anyhow I loathe girls' colleges—all proms and hockey and hand-made sweaters."

He gave a great laugh at her description.

"Johnny, what I want is to begin to live. This," her comprehensive glance swept the big, richly-furnished room, "this isn't living."

"Well, it's very comfortable," John Kaye said, producing a limp packet of cigarettes. "How's Bertine?"

"Oh, she's a dynamo of energy as usual. She makes me feel futile."

"You need more iron in your system." But he spoke absently. She had the sensation he wasn't really attending to his words. "In love?"

Scarlet flooded her face. "Dear, oh dear, what's the matter with everyone today?" She tried to laugh, but did not make much of a success at it.

"Oh, Zoe Parker was talking—"

"Little cuddly, cunning Zoe?"

"The same."

"She still as pretty?"

"Oh, very!"

"Well, what was she talking to you about?"

"She thinks," said Katharine slowly, "that I'm the original ice maiden; says men are afraid of me—my type, at least. Is it true?"

He exhaled deliberately before answering. "I'm not."

"Oh, you, Johnny! You're my best friend!"

"Mean that?"

"Absolutely!"

BERTINE bustled in then, very cordial and enthusiastic. Johnny must stay—well, he must bring

Rowe Shuts Out New York Yanks

Arkansas Outpitches Lefty Gomez on Detroit Field, 5 to 0

DETROIT, Mich. — (AP) — Lynwood (Schoolboy) Rowe, five times conqueror of the Yankees last year, resumed his mastery over the New Yorkers Monday as he shut them out with four singles to give the Detroit Tigers a 5-to-0 victory in the teams' first clash of the season.

Rowe was victorious in his first mound duel with Vernon (Lefty) Gomez, southpaw ace of the Yankees. Gomez was touched for two runs and six of the Tigers' hits before he was lifted for a pinch hitter in the seventh. Pat Malone finished.

Rowe, who has had a difficult time getting started this spring after winning 21 games for the American League champions last year, was in fine form as he handed the Yankees their third shutout and won his second triumph against three defeats. He gave only one base on balls, which went to Earl Combs in the first inning, and did not allow a hit until one man was out in the fourth. Then Tony Lazzeri singled. Red Wolfe beat out a bunt with one out in the sixth and advanced as far as any Yankee got when he went to third on Lou Gehrig's single. Lazzeri followed by hitting into a double play, and the only serious threat to Rowe's shutout was wiped away. George Selkirk got the last Yankee hit, a single with two out in the seventh.

In losing Gomez suffered his fourth defeat of the year and his third in succession. The Tigers got to the lineup in the first run in the opening inning on White's base on balls. Gerald Walker's single to right center and Charley Gehring's long fly.

Gomez blanked the Tigers until the sixth when Walker hit the ball over the left field fence for a home run. The last run came off Malone in the eighth when he was hit for a double by Gehring and a single by Hank Greenberg.

The zinnias were softly blowing. A dreamful, alive bouquet Of crimson and gold and amber And color of roses that clamber The wall into yesterday. The grass had been clipped and was glowing With sheen of a life new-found. When, flaunting his brilliance, a-chatter, There landed a jay—like a latter Of heaven upon the ground. "A picture!" I whispered, still knowing No picture has yet been framed That captures the fleeting wonder And beauty vibrating under The moment that moves untamed. A portrait of living and growing. The zinnias trembling, leaping. The jay that is fluttering, preening. And the smell of the new-clipped lawn—Selected.

The Women's Missionary society of First Methodist church held their May meeting on Monday afternoon at the church, with Mrs. Frank Stanley, president, in the chair. The meeting opened with the singing of a hymn in unison followed by prayer by Mrs. M. B. Bryant. During the business period, Mrs. Stith Davenport gave a report of the Zone meeting held last week in Ozon. It was also voted that the circles hold a union picnic on the First Monday in June at the Experiment Station. The hour of regular meeting was changed to 4 o'clock for the summer months. The program was presented by the children's circle which is being sponsored by Miss Mamie Bryant and Mrs. Dale Barnum. A special Mother's program was presented by the Junior and Primary departments, with Wilton Jewell presiding.

TO ESTIMATE THE AMOUNT OF UNPAID DOCTOR BILL

In dealing with patients of the lower middle class I have been no little amused by their usage of certain stereotyped phrases applying to doctors. I have learned after much experience that behind these opinions there is often the little matter of an unpaid bill. So constant is this relationship that I have come to believe that there is a definite correlation between the strength of the patient's lexicon and the amount of money owed to the physician.

For example, when a patient tells me: "We used to use Dr. A—but I don't know—we don't care so much for him any more." I know that they owe him a couple of dollars, somewhere between 2 and $10, which they haven't quite gotten around to paying.

When the patient says, "We use to have Dr. B., but really we don't have any confidence in him any more," I know then that the amount of the unpaid bill is on an average between ten and fifty dollars.

But when a patient says, with much vehemence, "Dr. C? I wouldn't let that man treat my dog," then I know for a certainty that they owe him between fifty and a hundred dollars, and that for a very long time. In these cases the doctor has usually sued for his bill.

Surprisingly, investigation very often proves that these odd criteria of the patients past history are almost as accurate as they are amusing.

Take Issue With Veto

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Congressional leaders of the drive for the Patman bonus bill announced after a conference Monday night that they would send the inflationary measure to the White House Tuesday.

With this announcement they coupled an expression of renewed hope that they could override the expected presidential veto.

House and senate backers of the currency bonus bill together with representatives of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin's National Union for Social Justice surveyed prospects at the conference and agreed to stand by the Patman bill without compromise.

Hopes Revived

They said they had received information reviving their hopes of passing the hilly disputed bill over the expected veto of President Roosevelt.

Senator Thomas Donahoe, Oklahoma, who called the conference, declined, however, to claim sufficient votes to pass the bill over a veto.

"We have a better chance now to pass the bill over a veto than we had two months ago to pass it at all," Thomas said.

Those attending the conference in addition to Thomas included Senators Long, Democrat, Louisiana; McCarran, Democrat, Nevada; Neely, Democrat, West Virginia; Representative Patman, Democrat, Texas, author of the bonus bill; Louis Ward, representing the National Union for Social Justice, and several representatives of Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Republican leaders were urging that if the Patman bill were killed, the Vinson cash payment plan advanced by the American Legion, should be pushed forward. Inflationary forces were not willing to go along on that proposition.

Cash Drive Expected

It was regarded by informed senators as more likely that if the veto should be sustained, the new drive would come on a cash payment bill providing a series of alternate methods of financing, under which President Roosevelt could choose between issuing new currency or raising the money from other sources.

Administration leaders, meanwhile, contended that the veto on the Patman bill would end the bonus issue for this session and that no further compromise would be offered.

The president found 40,000 telegrams favoring the Patman bill by a ratio of about eight to one on his desk, but went ahead with preparations to veto the measure immediately it reaches him.

There seemed to be a marked let-up in the volume of the telegrams today. Telegraph companies reported they had dropped off almost to normal, following radio appeals for the Patman bill by Long and Coughlin.

"Worst" Inflation Edwin W. Kemmerer, international financial expert and Princeton University professor, told a senate banking subcommittee Monday that pay-

The Blonde Harlow Proves Deaf to Fayetteville Telephone Fans

LITTLE ROCK—Jean Harlow, the gorgeous platinum blonde of the screen, is "in the doghouse" with the Independent Theater Owners of Arkansas, who concluded a two-day semi-annual convention here Monday. Miss Harlow came into disfavor with the theater men in this manner. It seems that a half dozen members of the Pi Beta Phi sorority at the University of Arkansas pooled their resources Sunday night and telephoned the movie star in Hollywood to tell her something nice about her picture, "Reckless," currently showing in Fayetteville.

Miss Harlow, it was reported, told long distance operator that she "didn't know anybody in Arkansas and didn't want to talk to anybody in Arkansas."

And that was that. The girls were out of pocket $7 or $8, without her compensating thrill of talking to the famous platinum blonde. So they protested to W. F. Sonnenman, manager of the Palace, Ozark and Regal theaters in Fayetteville that they didn't care for such an attitude and would stay away in indignation numbers hereafter from all Harlow pictures.

Mr. Sonnenman was not one to take that lying down. Monday he telephoned J. E. Norman, of England, secretary of the Independent Theater Owners, told him what he thought of Miss Harlow, and suggested that the organization do something about it.

The theater owners adopted a resolution deploring such a snooty attitude toward the fans and admirers of Miss Harlow, "who have made her what she is today," and sent it to the district distributor for M-G-M. pictures.

ment of the bonus with new currency would be a "calamity."

Kemmerer said the Patman bill was inflation of the worst type and might furnish the "added blow" to break confidence and begin a flight from the dollar.

This would result, he said, in an inflation perhaps similar to that in Germany.

The Princeton professor gave his views in response to questions by committeemen after he had opposed sections of the omnibus banking bill giving the Federal Reserve Board control over credit and monetary policy.

well adapted to dry weather conditions and are practically sure of making grain in the driest year, or in years when corn is almost a total failure.

"While most of the crops recommended to supplement the corn crop have practically the same feeding value as corn, I realize that perhaps such crops are not as easily handled and fed as corn is; however, they serve the purpose of corn well when it is lacking," Mr. Stanley said.

On the average farm there is usually a small acreage of land that is not planted to the regular crops which can be converted into feed growing crops such as grain sorghum. A good feature about grain sorghum is that they can be planted late, or after the principal crops are out of the way. Land rented to the government in connection with the cotton adjustment program is ordinarily well suited to growing such crops.

All of these crops can be planted following oats, or as late as July 1, with ample time for a good yield, even with minimum rainfall. Following oats on land that is somewhat thin, cowpeas will usually produce more make planted as late as July 1.

"If farmers of Hempstead county are to develop a live-at-home program that will insure abundant living from the farm, more diversity must be injected into the farm program of the county, particularly in production of food and feed," Mr. Stanley said. "A program is put into practice on every farm in the county, hundreds of dollars will leave the county annually for food and feed that, under normal conditions, could be produced at home."

On most farms in the county, farmers could practically insure their feed supply against the hazards of drought by planting an acreage of grain sorghum just in case anything happened to the corn crop.

This trestle is used for side-tracking and to insure the brakeman placing the cars on that trestle without, as they say in railroad parlance, "kicking them in." There was no bumping post on the end of it. The standing order was that the engine was not to be cut off until all the wheels were still and the brakes set. One day the freight pulled down to the siding with 18 cars to set on the trestle. The trestle was empty. The conductor pulled out his watch and saw he had but five minutes. Rushing to the engineer, the conductor told him of the situation and the engineer decided to take a chance and "kick them in." One after the other, the cars rolled down the trestle—and into the river. The conductor viewed the situation with alarm, rushed into the telegraph office and wired the division superintendent as follows: "Have placed 18 cars on Dimmock Hollow trestle. There is room for 18 more. Please accept my resignation at once."

NOTICE OF SALE

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that J. E. Bearden, Sheriff of Hempstead County, Arkansas, will, on Monday, the 10th day of June, 1935, between the hours of nine o'clock in the forenoon and three o'clock in the afternoon of said date, offer for sale at the front door of the county courthouse, in the town of Washington, Hempstead County, Arkansas, at public outcry to the highest bidder, on a credit of three months, the following described real estate situated in the County of Hempstead and State of Arkansas, to-wit:

The East Half of the Northwest Quarter, containing 80 acres, and the West Half of the Northeast Quarter, containing 80 acres, and the Northeast Quarter of the Northeast Quarter, containing 40 acres, and the East Half of the Northwest Quarter of the Southeast Quarter, containing 20 acres, and the Northwest Quarter of the Northwest Quarter of the Southeast Quarter, containing 10 acres, and all that part of the Northwest Quarter of the Southeast Quarter lying north and west of the Washington and Fulton Road, containing 29.15 acres, more or less, all in Section 29; also the Northwest Quarter of the Northwest Quarter of Section 28, and all that part of the East Half of the Northwest Quarter of Section 28 described as follows, to-wit: commencing at a stake on the section line between Sections 21 and 28, 19.81 chains East of the Northwest corner of Section 28 run thence South 20 chains, thence South 14 degrees East 12.93 chains to the Washington and Fulton Road, thence North 58 degrees East 10 chains, thence North 32 degrees East 17 chains, thence North 37 degrees West 20.69 chains, thence West to the point of beginning, containing 49.46 acres; all of said lands lying in Township 11 South, Range 25 West, and containing in the aggregate, 348.61 acres, more or less.

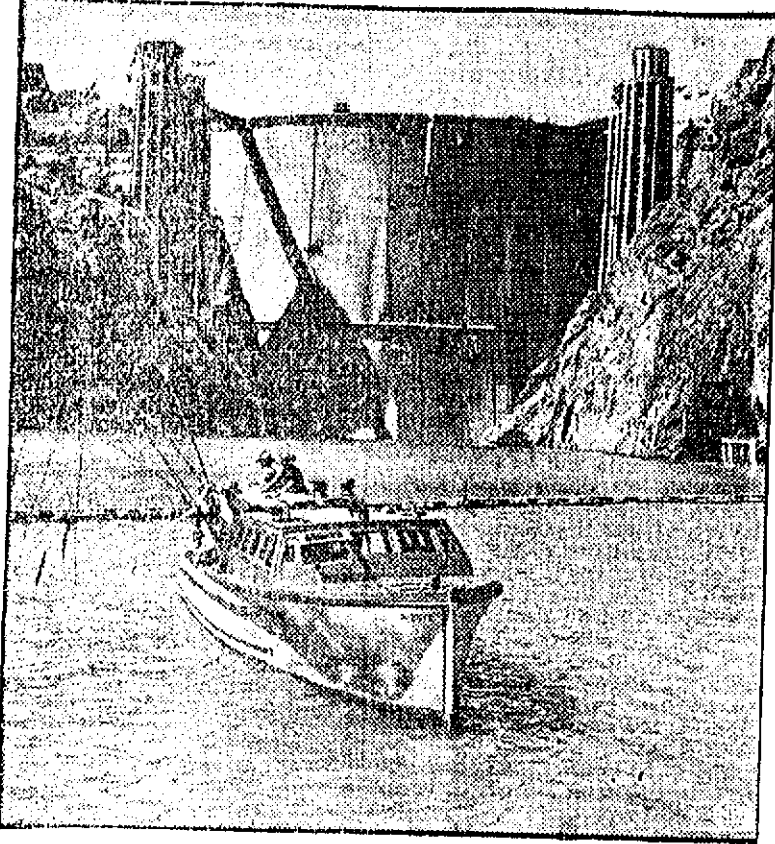

The purchaser will be required to give bond with good security for the payment of the purchase price, the security to be approved by me, together with interest from the date of sale at the rate of six percent per annum. This sale will be made by virtue of a levy made by me under an execution issued out of the Circuit Court of Hempstead County, Arkansas, on May 4, 1935, upon a judgment rendered in said court in favor of Marion Wasson, Bank Commissioner of the State of Arkansas in charge of the Washington State Bank of Washington, Arkansas, insolvent, against W. E. Elmore, defendant, said execution being issued in favor of said Marion Wasson, Bank Commissioner of the State of Arkansas in charge of the Washington State Bank of Washington, Arkansas, insolvent.

WITNESS my hand this 7th day of May, 1935.

Fish Really BITE at Boulder Dam

It's a perilous spot these fishermen are in! Fish leaping at them from all directions, seizing their hooks, storming the boat! What a thrill for the hardened angler! It looks almost too ferocious to be authentic, but here 'tis, showing Jim Cashman, pioneer Las Vegas, Nev., transportation man, proving to his eastern friends how they bite in the new Boulder Dam lake. You'll notice that the lake is filling up rapidly, back of the huge barrier in the Colorado river.

Big Utility Only 'Lemon' to Spy

A $35,000,000 property to its stockholders, but just a "lemon" in the code of a girl office spy was the Missouri-Kansas Pipeline Company, the spy, Blaise Walker, above, testified in the mail fraud trial of Frank P. Parish in Chicago federal court, appearing as a witness for the defense after her conscience had swerved her from the rival utility that employed her.

How Many of These Film Stars of Other Days Do You Recognize?

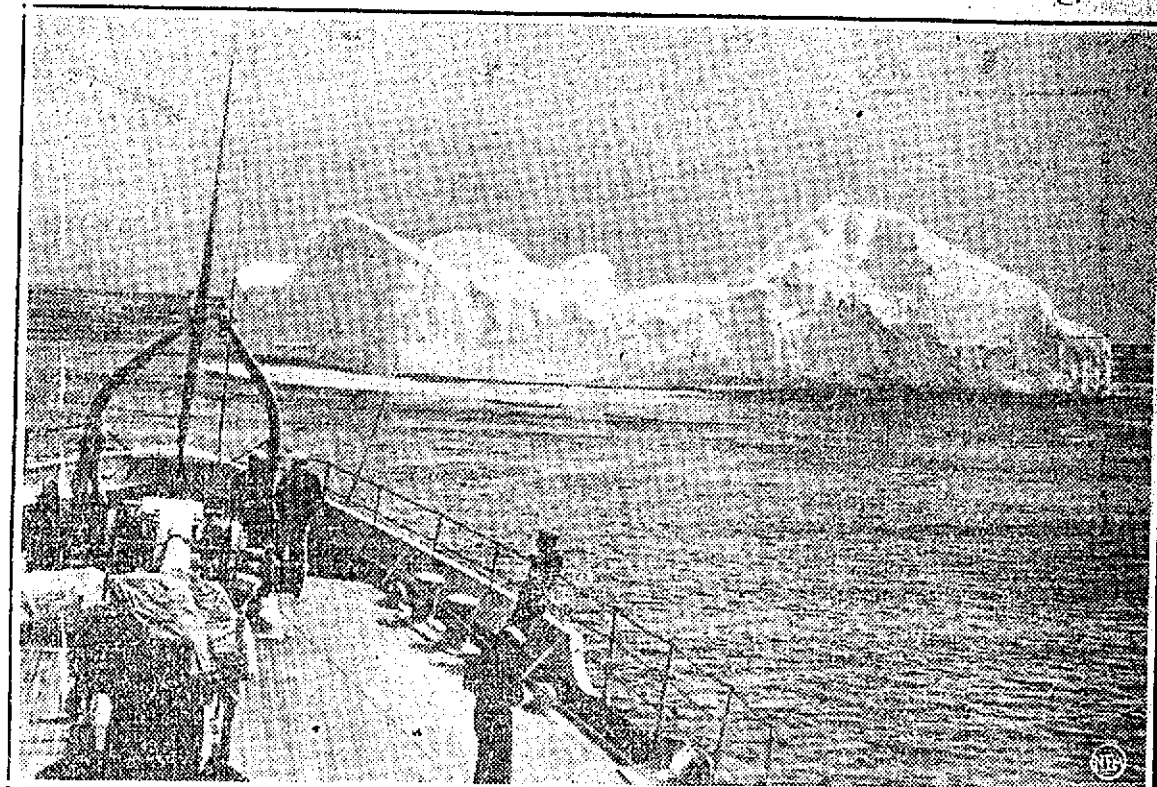

Jays and stories of past days were lived over again when this happy group met once more after seven years, in one of Hollywood's most unusual reunions. The dazzling dozen shown here are former famed movie actresses, members of "Our Club," organized in 1923 by Helen Ferguson and Mildred Davis, now Mrs. Harold Lloyd. The gathering was held in the film capital home of Anita Stewart. In addition to the reunion, the event was a reception for Laura LaPlante, a visitor in Hollywood from London, where she now makes her home.

Picks More Cotton Than 60 Men

A dream inspired by back-breaking toil in the inventors' youthful days in Texas is forged into this machine, hailed as the first practical cotton picker. Built by Mack D. and John D. Rust, it was exhibited the first time at the National Cotton Show in Memphis. In tests it has picked more than 8000 pounds in a 7½-hour day, as much as an average hand picker will gather in 10 weeks. The principle is simple. Rotating moistened spindles enter the plant, the cotton adheres to them, and is stripped away by a suction fan, which delivers the cotton to a container attached to the upright pipe shown in this picture.

Going Into Action in War on Atlantic Icebergs

The annual iceberg boom is on. Warm weather breaks mountains of ice off northern glaciers, creating a menace for shipping as the bergs float south. Then ice patrols set out to blast the bergs into harmless pieces with their huge deck guns. Here's a view from the deck of the U. S. Coast Guard boat, Mendota, as it cautiously approaches a huge floe in the North Atlantic. After a quick survey of its extent, the booming of the Mendota's guns sounded the death knell of this peril to shipping.

Rolling out of the way of his own mount, Powers gets into the path of a second horse, whose jockey excitedly tugs at the bridle to avoid trampling his rival to death.

Blond Charmer Wins Oil Man

The blond charms of Loretta Andrews, above, that won for the 21-year-old St. Louis girl elevation from a Hollywood chorus to acting opportunities, have won for her a wealthy mate as well. Following the marriage ceremony in Reno, Nev., she is honeymooning in California with Frank D. Allen, Los Angeles oil man.

Lucky Dog! Court Upholds $500 Bequest to Terrier

Just because a dog's ownership changes is no reason for depriving him of a fortune bequeathed him in a valid will, Surrogate James A. Foley ruled in New York. So "Sparky," 12-year-old Irish terrier, inherits $500 from the estate of Willard G. Lowison. "Sparky" was bequeathed to Henry Doroland, with whom he is pictured above.

Dance Selves Out of Slump

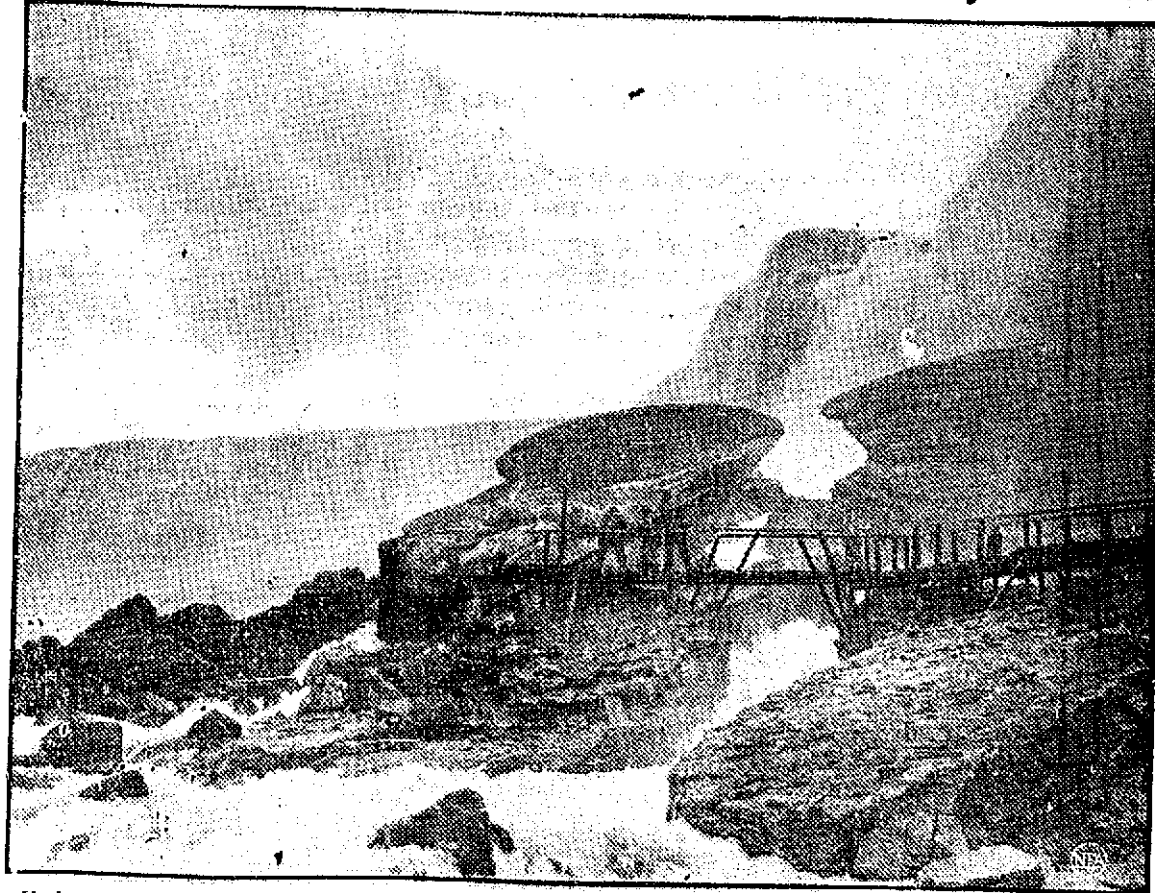

The depression that struck the country some years ago hit Florida so hard that it banished the brother and sister team of Vilma and Buddy Ebsen, shown above, right out of their home town of Orlando into the lap of Hollywood. Today these youngsters are considered the most sensational dancing mates the screen has shown in years. You'll see them soon in a forthcoming picture.

Maybe Gassaway Will Toss This at Huey

A cowboy of renown, it appears as if Rex Pappy L. Gassaway of Oklahoma may be ruminating over taking up bullfighting as a serious occupation. But it's a capital joke that the southwesterer merely keeps the bull on hand to weight down a copy of "Every Man a King," literary masterpiece of Huey Long, with whom Gassaway has a feud, ridiculing the King's share the wealth idea.

Getting the Big Show Ready for 1935 Honeymooners

Because of mild weather, the bridge-builders have undertaken their annual task on the slippery rocks at the earliest date within memory.

2 Die in Pacific Fleet Maneuvers

Gunner Killed in Ship Collision—Aviator Plunges Into Water

HONOLULU, H. I., (AP)—The mightiest naval concentration in Pearl Harbor's history—42 warships—rode all weekend Monday awaiting orders for a westward dash in secret maneuvers involving a supposed attack upon Hawaii.

Grim reality was thrust into the maneuvers, meanwhile, in the accidental death of two men, in the collision of two destroyers, and the other in the crash of a naval airplane.

2 Fatal Accidents

HONOLULU, H. I., (AP)—A destroyer collision which killed one man and injured four and a plane plunge into the sea that took the life of an aviator were revealed here Sunday as casualties in the American fleet's secret mid-Pacific "war" operations.

The casualties were disclosed when 32 of the 153 warships steamed into Pearl harbor here Sunday morning and Admiral J. M. Reeves lifted the rigid censorship that had concealed the operations since last Thursday.

Admiral Reeves made known that the 43 planes which took off here last Thursday for a mass flight somewhere in the mid-Pacific area had reached their secret destination safely 1,200 miles westward and were "executing their missions." Naval officers said the great maneuvers had simulated actual war to a surprising extent.

The destroyer Lea tore into the stern of the destroyer Scord just out of the harbor Sunday morning while leading the bigger ships through an "enemy" network of submarines.

Richard Chadwick, second class gunner's mate, of Blufffield, Mich., was killed aboard the Scord; three enlisted men were hurt slightly and another was thrown over the side and suffered from submersion.

Lieut. Mathias B. Wyatt, 26, of San Diego, a native of South Carolina, was the victim of the plane crash, which took place 200 miles east of Hawaii.

Wyatt, in one of 188 fighting planes had taken off from the aircraft carrier Saratoga to ward off an "enemy" attack of submarines coming out from the islands. His ship flew into the slip-stream (currents caused by winds and propellers) of a companion plane. His ship plummeted down into water three miles deep. The destroyer MacLeish and a plane guard reached the spot one minute after the crash but the plane sank without a trace.

Beauty Loses Suit Against Britisher

Jury Finds for Lord Revelstoke, Deliberating Only Half an Hour

LONDON, Eng.—(AP)—Miss Angela Joyce, the "Miss England of 1930," Tuesday lost her breach of promise suit against Lord Revelstoke, a wealthy young banker.

A jury in the Old Bailey, which included three women, required only half an hour to reach a verdict for the defendant.

Costs of the action were assessed against Miss Joyce.

The beauty contest winner, who changed her name from Ivy Dawkins when the stage called for her, testified that Revelstoke, known as Rupert Baring before his father's death, proposed to her several times while he was in school at Cambridge. Once he popped the question in her bedroom, she asserted.

This Revelstoke flatly denied, telling the court the question of marriage only came up between them when Miss Joyce herself raised it. He told her he was not interested, he testified.

Justice Swift, in charging the jury, said:

"A man doesn't promise to marry a woman by saying 'You're the sweetest girl I've ever met.'"

To win her case, he said, Miss Joyce had to prove without question that Revelstoke had contracted to marry her.

Poland's Dictator Victim of Cancer

Marshal Joseph Pilsudski, 67, 'Iron Man' Since Coup of 1926

LONDON, Eng.—(AP)—Diplomatic circles here were uneasy Monday over the death of Marshal Joseph Pilsudski, Polish dictator, seeing the possibility of new frontier difficulties between Poland and Germany with a resultant realignment of political relationships throughout Europe.

Few diplomats believe Poland will be able to continue balancing her friendships with Germany and France. Also, there is the conviction that internal political quarrels, which the dictator had smothered, will flare up.

Pilsudski Dies

WARSAW, Poland.—(AP)—Marshal Joseph Pilsudski, 67, Poland's man of power, died Monday night from cancer, on the ninth anniversary of the 1926 coup that made him virtual dictator of the land.

Unconscious the last three days, while his associates carried on their negotiations for security in Europe, he died peacefully. The news was announced two hours later to a throng gathered before Belvedere palace.

Authorities took all possible precautions to prevent internal disturbances. Police were reinforced and officers patrolling the streets were equipped with tear gas. The cabinet gathered quickly in special session to deliberate the political situation.

Marshal Pilsudski had been more than customarily ill for the last few months, but the fact that he was suffering from cancer of the stomach and liver, was closely guarded secret.

His last illness was kept from the public until several hours after his death although suspicious signs about his palace had led to many rumors during the last few days. He suffered an internal hemorrhage Sunday which was the immediate cause of death.

For the last 10 years, his health, which broke under the strain of a five-year banishment to Siberia in 1887 under the Czarist regime, had forced the marshal to take extra care and frequent rest cures.

Barbara Hutton to Remarry at Once

Woolworth Heiress to Choose European Bridegroom for Second Time

RENO, Nev.—(AP)—Wedding bells are expected to ring Tuesday for the newly-divorced Princess Barbara Hutton Mdivani, Woolworth heiress, and the handsome Danish nobleman, Count Kurt Haugwitz-Reventlow.

It was learned Monday night that the count—who has denied he intends to marry the princess—has arrived in Reno, and is making plans to take the $400,000 heiress back to Europe with him.

The count was said to have arrived in Cerni, Nev., 12 miles west of here, only a few hours after the pretty princess discarded her polo-playing husband, Alexander Mdivani.

The count was met at Verni by George B. Thatcher, Barbara's Reno attorney, and came to Reno by automobile.

It was learned he went to the private residence of the princess, where the grounds were being carefully guarded to keep questioners away.

The famous young woman, whose divorce trial Monday required only 10 minutes, was secluded in the private home. Her father, Franklin L. Hutton of New York, and her stepmother also were reported to be in the house.

Workers were polishing up the brass trimmings on the $100,000 private railway car, the Curleyhut, in which Mr. and Mrs. Hutton came to Reno from New York.

Senate Leader

Harve B. Thorn should serve as acting governor.

Several weeks ago when the governor and lieutenant governor left the state, Senator Norrell came to Little Rock to assume the duties of acting governor and Speaker Thorn appeared the second day to claim the right, but the matter was not brought to an issue because both the governor and lieutenant governor returned to the state before Speaker Thorn appeared at the capitol.

Speaker Thorn said Monday that he probably would go ahead with a planned test case to have the question settled by the courts. He and Senator Norrell agreed to share the cost of such a test suit, but Senator Norrell requested an opinion to remove the matter from controversy pending a court decision.

School Ridicules Walgreen Charges

Chicago Trustees Cross-Examine Druggist on "Red" Accusations

CHICAGO—Charles R. Walgreen, head of a national chain of drug stores, explained for the first time Monday the "radical influences" which caused him to withdraw his niece from classes at University of Chicago.

Mr. Walgreen testified before a committee of the Illinois state senate which, before the close of a two-hour session, indicated that it will narrow the scope of its work to an inquiry into radical indoctrination of students in the classroom.

Mr. Walgreen reiterated his allegation that his niece, Miss Lucille Norton, 18, of Seattle, Wash., had been subjected to "insidious doctrine" in the classroom and injected, to the accompaniment of titters from the mass of students, that crowded the hearing room, he suggested that Prof. Frederick L. Schuman was sympathetic with "free love."

Harold H. Smith, president of the Board of Trustees of the university, President Robert Maynard Hutchins of the university, Prof. Charles E. Merriam, head of the Department of Political Science, and Mrs. Edith Foster Flint, Miss Norton's English instructor, also testified. With apparent relish they belabored Mr. Walgreen with irony, denied all his charges and defended the right of the university to academic freedom.

"Sky Train Is to Be Flown to Cuba

Plane Will Pull Two Motorless Gliders Carrying Pay Loads

WILMINGTON, Del.—(AP)—Heath McDowell of the Bowles-du Pont Sailplanes, Inc., announced Monday that the first international sky train flight from the United States to Cuba and return will start Tuesday weather permitting, from Miami, Fla.

The sky train will be composed of two motorless gliders towed tandem behind a 225-horsepower airplane. Upon arrival over Havana the two gliders will be released to land in the city street in front of the capitol. Elwood Keim of New York will pilot the plane, E. Paul du Pont Jr., of Wilmington will pilot one of the gliders and J. K. (Jack) O'Meara of New York, the other. The start is scheduled for 9 a. m. from the Municipal Airport. The return trip will be made three days later.

The flight to Cuba, McDowell said, was decided upon because of its international aspect and the knowledge to be gained from the first long over-water flight of a sky train. Definite pay loads will be carried in each glider both to and from Cuba. Short wave communication will be maintained between the gliders and the ground.

Cardui for Girls in 'Teens
Because of the benefit it has been to them, many mothers give Cardui to their daughters on their reaching young womanhood. . . . "When I was a girl at home," writes Mrs. Bernice Hollen, of French Lick, Ind., "I was very irregular. At times, the blood would seem to rush to my head and my nose would bleed. My mother had taken Cardui and it had helped her, so she gave it to me. My nose quit bleeding and I was regular. Since I have been married I have felt a great deal better after taking Cardui. . . . Local Druggist Makes A Remarkable Proposition To Sick, Nervous Folks

"Try New Form of Iron at My Risk." He Says, "and If It Doesn't Increase Your Strength and Endurance 150% in 10 Days, It Won't Cost You a Penny."

NEW NERVE AND BLOOD TONIC

Ward & Son is making a sensational offer that will certainly bring good cheer to the nervous, anemic, rundown folks in this town.

Just lately, he says, he heard about a wonderful new NERVE AND BLOOD TONIC that seemed to be working miracles with cases considered well-nigh hopeless. From all over the country came reports of its phenomenal success. So he sent for some Clements' Tonic, as it is called, and as long as his supply lasts, he is going to make it easy for scrawny, nervous, thin-blooded people to try it and see what it will do for them.

Clements' Tonic is a marvelous new kind of iron—a concentrated blend of iron and phosphates—that is not readily absorbed than ordinary iron, and promises to be one of the most potent of all remedies for thin blood, worn-out tissues, and depleted nerve force.

This new iron is far more effective than the old forms of reduced iron, iron acetate, or tincture of iron, as gets results twice as quick. It does not make the teeth black nor injure them in any way, nor does it upset the stomach.

Watch Nervousness Disappear

It is almost incredible the way sick, nervous anemic folks—who used to be alarmingly underweight, just skin and bones and ailing all the time—begin to pick up when they start taking this NERVE AND BLOOD TONIC, that sets rich red blood bounding and coursing through their veins.

Sunken cheeks and other hollows fill out through proper assimilation of your food; sallowness gives way to healthy color; nervousness disappears; you put on good firm flesh and feel like a million dollars. You bubble over with pep and vitality. Best of all, you have the STRENGTH THAT ENDURES.

If you have been sickly, ailing, out of condition, you owe it to yourself and your loved ones to make some such simple test as this: Weigh yourself, and then take a good long walk. See how far you can go or how long you can work without becoming tired. Next take the concentrated form of this new iron for two weeks—two tablets with each meal. Then weigh yourself again and see how much you have gained. You will be amazed, not only at the gain in weight, but at the extraordinary energy and endurance you will have acquired.

WARNING: No one should ever take this new iron concentrate, who objects to having their weight increased to normal, no matter how scrawny and rundown they are.

Ward & Son stands squarely behind this remarkable NERVE AND BLOOD TONIC, and cheerfully agrees to refund the purchase price if Clements' Tonic does not increase your strength and endurance 150% in 10 days' time.

BE SURE

the name FORD is on the Parts you buy

When you buy replacement parts for your Ford car—be sure it bears the name "FORD" in its familiar script form. Don't accept something 'just as good'—it will probably cost you more money in the long run. Genuine Ford Parts cost your repairman no more than unbranded, unknown parts. Insist on the Genuine.

Again Gulf offers a saving...Now you can get a premium oil at a popular price!

HAVE YOU ever wished for a premium motor oil—without a premium price...?

Then—listen to this...

There is now a premium oil—with full premium oil qualities—that sells for only 25¢ a quart. It is the new Gulf-lube.

What makes Gulf-lube a premium oil?

For many months, Gulf technologists focussed their efforts on a better method of making motor oil.

Out of their efforts has come a giant new Gulf refinery, operating upon a new refining principle—the Multi-sol process.

And from this new process and new refinery comes the new Gulf-lube!

How the Multi-sol process works

Under this history-making new process, solvents of two opposite actions are used.

One action dissolves out the impurities and settles them to the bottom

No other 25¢ motor oil gives you all these quality points!

1. It is Multi-sol processed.
2. Its already high mileage has been stepped up 20% to 25%.
3. Highly resistant to oxidation—non-sludging...extra long life.
4. It has a high viscosity index—

- thins out less under heat... easy starting year-round. Thoroughly de-waxed.
5. Forms far less carbon.
6. High film strength—superior mineral oil that will not corrode new alloy bearings.
